The Future is Bright for ShadyVEU

Protecting your eyesight is even more important than protecting your wallet, and with ShadyVEU you can do both. ShadyVEU knows its stuff when it comes to sun protection since it was founded in Los Angeles in 2015 by CEO Jasmin Molina. When it comes to the best sunglasses websites, it is the premium place to buy for a fraction of the price. Molina started ShadyVEU to provide affordable and stylish prescription eyeglasses, so we can all enjoy the "VEUs" life gives us and in the end, simply be able to visualize our best and most stylish futures!

Never a company to ever sacrifice quality, ShadyVEU is known for its trendy round 80's style sunglasses with the darkest tint available. Retro sunglasses, polarized sunglasses, mirrored or oversized sunglasses, ShadyVEU offers everything men and women are looking for. The company has proven especially popular for those looking for dark sunglasses for migraines.

And ShadyVEU doesn't just want its sunglasses to protect its customers' eyes. They want to protect others, as well. When you buy a pair of ShadyVEU sunglasses, they donate a portion of the sales to people in need of reading glasses all over the world. Molina spent several years in the medical field and realized how desperate the need was to protect everyone's vision while never sacrificing looks for safety. Beginning in her parents' garage to evolve to what the company now is, Molina saw what she needed to do.
